

With 'back to school' done, we're gearing up to shape the future for our kids ahead of the next federal election.

Before we dive in, will you take a few minutes to shape our campaign plans in our supporter survey?

Your answers will inform our media strategy, how we communicate, and where we focus campaign resources.

It takes 3 minutes, so grab a moment to yourself and tell us what you think. You probably deserve a break anyway,

Nic Seton | CEO, Parents for Climate

Take our 2025 supporter survey now

More than just an Ad - 'It's personal'

😊 Stories That Make You Smile 😊

The Making of 'Later is Too Late' video

Two weeks before Christmas, at the busiest time of the year, we put out a call. 📣

We asked parents, kids - even a puppy - to come together to help create something powerful: a message straight from the heart, reminding Australians that later is too late to act on climate.

The response? Nothing short of inspiring.

READ MORE

Practical Action

EV touring: What happened when we ran our

Featured resource

BYD Atto 3 battery down to zero

Fresh from a 4,550 km, three state, two week family road trip in an electric vehicle, David McEwen reports back on his experience, including the good, the bad, the future, and a special mention.

READ MORE

Candidate engagement training - 13 Feb

Skill up to meet your MP or election candidate to help them understand how the right climate solutions also ease cost of living pressures (lunchtime and evening sessions).

SIGN UP HERE

Young Kids

Discover where your raindrop's end up with this interactive map.

Simply tap a world map to add a raindrop, and it lets you follow its course to its final destination.

CHECK IT OUT

Older Kids

How to raise kids to identify misinformation

Telling facts from fiction is a crucial skill. In the age of AI hallucinations, hoaxes, deceptive marketing, and record-low public trust in science and other institutions, it's more important than ever to raise kids who can sift through evidence, identify reliable sources, and think for themselves.

READ MORE

Book Review: Glimpses of Utopia by Jess Scully

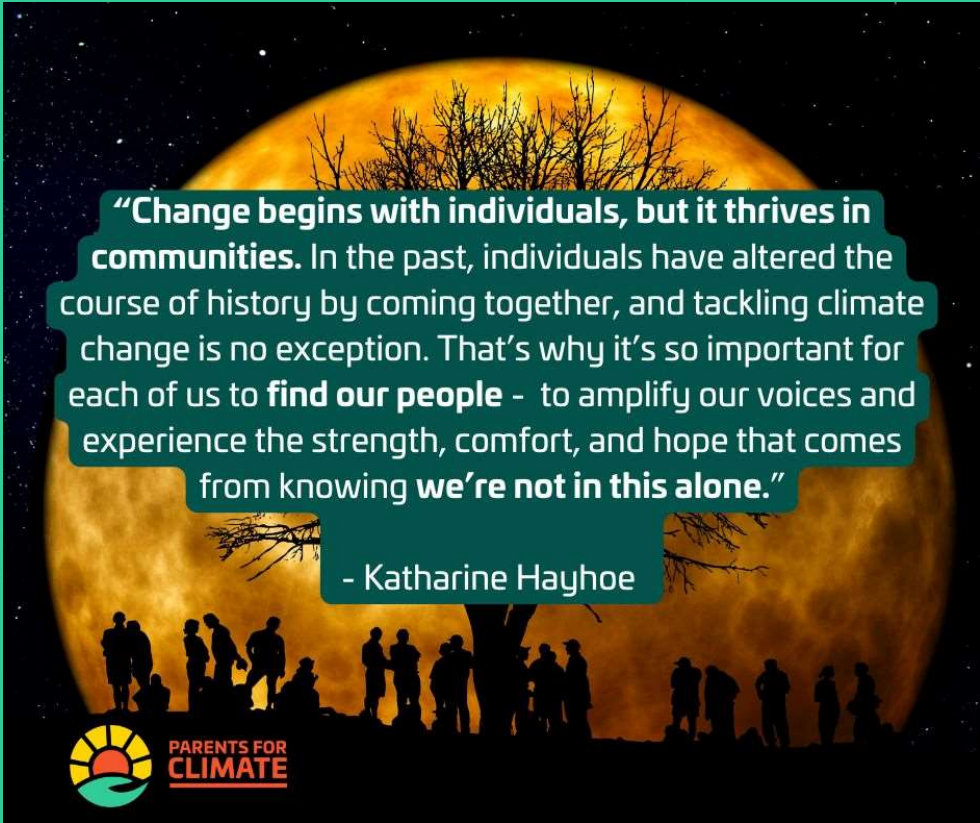

It's easy to feel disheartened—sometimes even despondent—about the state of the world. That's why we need books like Glimpses of Utopia by Jess Scully.

Read more here

Upcoming Events

Find your local group and see what events are on, or join in national trainings.

SEE EVENTS

SHARE on Facebook

What did you think of this month's newsletter?

♡♡♡♡♡

♡♡♡♡

♡♡♡

♡♡

Your feedback can help us engage more parents for climate

Parents for Climate acknowledges the traditional custodians of the land, waters and skies where we live, work and nurture our children. We pay our respects to their Elders past and present and recognise the continuous connection of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples to land, water and Country. We acknowledge there is no climate justice without justice for First Nations people.

Tell us what you think? Share your thoughts or content ideas by emailing info@parentsforclimate.org

Forward this Newsletter: Know someone who would appreciate our climate-supportive community?

Designed with Beefree